We are a prominent organization involved in manufacturing and exporting an extensive range of Butyl Rubber Inner Tubes. Available in standard as well as customized forms, tubes are paradigm of quality and are known for resistance to puncture.

About Us

We, “ Dev Rubber Factory ”, are manufacturing, supplying and exporting an extensive range of rubber butyl tubes. We optimally utilize heavy-duty rubber and mold it in the processing to produce tubes as per the specific requirements of our clients. Further, we use a combination of pure natural rubber and synthetic rubber in compound to ensure that our tubes are best in quality. Our puncture resistant tubes are durable, have excellent air retention capacity and are thus, highly demanded in automobile industry.

Having hi-tech manufacturing unit that is fitted with screw type molding & cutting machines, we make sure that our products are in compliance with the international quality standards. We properly utilize available resources and avoid wastage of resources. This lowers down the rate of production, which in turn helps us offer our products at competitive prices. We also conduct extensive researches with a view to cater to changing requirements of our esteemed clients.

We owe our success in Indian Subcontinent to our mentor, “Mr. Kuldeep Jain”, who is a prodigy in this field. Under his able guidance, we have achieved new level of success and are giving tough competition to our counterparts.
