About Us

Established in the year 1978, we, “Oxford Electrohit, Anand”, have etched a remarkable name for itself in the domain of Heating Equipment and Control Panel Board. Our team of qualified professionals design these products using exceptional grade material procured from reliable vendor base. These heating products find extensive application in nuclear fuel, foundries, air conditioning, process and textile industries. Furthermore, these products are widely appreciated for their high efficiency, superior performance, sturdy construction and shock proof nature. Our organization is counted among a rapidly increasing heating products provider in the market. All these products are fabricated at our well-equipped manufacturing unit that is installed with modernized machinery. Moreover, our quality auditors conduct rigorous tests on these products to ensure that these are in compliance with the prescribed global standards. Wide distribution network set by us put their best efforts in delivering the consignments at the clients' end within the stipulated time frame. Under the visionary guidance of our mentor, 'Mr. Vipul Jayaswal', we have achieved tremendous success and growth in this competitive domain. His sharp business acumen and excellent leadership skills have always supported us in standing ahead of our counterparts in the industry.
