About Us

Singh Publishing House was established in the year 2000. Singh Publishing House is an educational enterprise dedicated to raising the standard of education by providing a diverse range of well - researched quality books for children. While designing books, we try our best to take care of their text, illustration, printing, binding and overall getup. The prices of our books suit even a common buyer's pocket.

We, at Singh Publishing House, have pledged to continue playing our role in educating children at large. We put the welfare and future of children before anything else. Every book that comes out of our publishing house is a complete book in itself which aims to be both teacher and learner-friendly. We hope the entire range of our publication will meet the expectations of each and every buyer.
