About Us

Choosing the right career is the one of the most important decision of your life. For most, this choice is made without exploring either the environment or within oneself. Build on the largest career database and utilizing the latest in decision theory, psychometric assessments and analytics, our platform brings to you some unique predictive tools and frameworks to facilitate your search for a right career and education ...Choosing a career is one of the important decisions of an individuals life. Research shows employment in areas outside one's core education qualifications significantly impacts earnings and growth potential. For most these choices are made without exploring either the environment or within oneself, hence the need for a decision making framework. We at Tucareers.com leverage research in decision theory, psychometric assessments, analytics and data from the worlds largest career database (O*NET) bring some unique tools and frameworks to facilitate the search for a right career, education and the skills. The O*NET program is USA's leading occupational database and also becoming a global reference in a highly connected and globalized world. We are working on enhancing the decision value O*NET can provide to career & education decision makers, especially focused on its usage in an International / multi cultural context. This we believe is essential in emerging economies (like India) where unlike USA, minimal research exists in...
