About Us

Nature, think, is the most primitive, pure, mysterious and powerful of all existence. I don't recognize any other power that is comparable to nature. Maybe that is the reason I am pulled towards it with a uncanny attraction. My birth connects me to nature, and it is the same with you. All of us have this subtle or explicit urge, this affection towards nature, but to understand it, one must first experience the magic of nature. Nature exists in the city too. But nature doesn't stay nature here. Rivers become sewages and the fresh morning air has been locked in gas chambers. Life as we know it today, is just a race, to where? We don't know. We live in a society in which our basic instinct of a human being has been lost; where we cannot expect nature to be a priority. But what if you really, innately want to have an intimate affair with nature? Then you need to leave the concrete and go to the woods. Go to nature, and watch her grow, watch her bloom, watch her flower. You'll see how life takes birth, how it grows through complex surroundings, struggles and withers away. All this, you can do, with Wild Outdoors! Because, when you are with us, you'll understand how nature is bound to rules, how detailed it is. The rules are universal, no one is supposed to trespass them, undermine them. One might even pay dearly if he tries to oversee these rules and trespass nature's privacy.
