About Us

Ashoka Electronics is an SSI unit manufacturing transformer control panels for the power industry and has work experience of about 35 years in this field. The factory is situated at Govindpura Bhopal and employs about 100 workers and presently has more than 25 satisfied customers. The organization produces the transformer panels as per the orders specified by the customer. The organization procures the raw materials required for manufacturing from Delhi, Mumbai, Indore & the local market, generally from dealers who have been associated with them for some time. The dealers generally give discounts to the organization for the raw materials purchased. The transformer panel manufacturing industry is highly competitive and the rates have to be kept low to retain the existing customers and also attract new customers. IT & computerization can play a very big role in expanding the volumes by providing Proper calculation of costs so as to offer the lowest possible price to the customer.

- Proper management of inventory to reduce the costs and the holding period
- Proper management of manpower, so as to reduce redundancy of work & process time
- Better interaction with the customer
- Quality control of the finished goods
