About Us

Amrutlal Virpal Parekh Technical Institute abbreviated as AVPTI was found out in the year of 1948 by the help of a generous donor of that era known as Sheth Amrutlal Virpal Parekh. He donated INR - 1,05,0001 in the currency of that time, with the help of which Wireless Telegraphy course was first to start in this campus & in the country! It is worth to mention that to fulfill the vision of Sheth Shree A.V. Parekh, the Principal of D.H. Arts & Science College in year of 1948, Shree R.K. Yagnik played a vital role & made it a success. Afterwards many courses such as Advanced Radio Communications, Television, Wireless Communications etc. were started on certificate level & made a benchmark of quality students as output which were placed gladly by top companies and institutions around the globe. Currently on the requirement of changing time Institution offers Diploma Level courses on branches of Engineering and Design such as Bio-Medical, Computer, Instrumentation & Control, Electrical, Electronics & Communications and Computer Aided Costume Design. The institution is equipped with more than 100 Teaching & Administrative staff, 5 buildings, 3 hostels, staff quarters & 2 under construction buildings. The institute also offers a central library with vast range of books, magazines and articles. The inner soul of this place always keeps faculties and students self motivated towards new limits of work...
