About Us

Kaziranga is situated to the south of Karbianglong hills and on the northern bank of river Brahmaputra. The Kaziranga National Park area was formed by silt deposition of Brahmaputra and its tributaries. In course of time the area has been evolved into vast alluvial grasslands interspersed with patches of tropical mixed moist deciduous forest and numerous water-bodies. It is a dream come true that now Kaziranga is a title of remarkable success story of conservation of One Horned Rhinoceros and other wild life in North East India including some threatened species of animals, birds and plants. The twin ecological and biological balances of this park is significant for natural habitats and for these values and criteria in-situ conservation of biological diversity made Kaziranga National Park to get inscribed in the World Heritage Site list in 1985. The significant conservation values of Wild Life in this Park have recorded to world's largest population of Indian one horned rhinos, Asiatic wild buffalo, Eastern swamp deer, high density of Tiger, large number of Asiatic elephant, Hog deer, variety of fishes, different species of birds and other wild life.
