About Us

But for us, creativity is never an end in itself. Its sole purpose is to realize our clients' marketing objectives. Our most powerful creative ideas always come from insights based on a thorough understanding of the context within which the idea needs to operate. Our best creative ideas clearly match marketing intent with consumer need. We do this through a process we call "Creative Planning". Creative Planning is the most efficient way of developing really powerful creative ideas. We create propositions which subsequently is developed into ads. We then use focus groups, not to find the best ad (although that may be a fortunate by-product of the process) but to understand what the real issues are that affect the situation we are trying to influence. We love to create work that is visually beautiful. We love to create work that is controversial, work that gets people talking. And we love to create work that engages on a deep emotional level, or simply makes you laugh. But above all we love work that works.
