About Us

- Agriculture in India is not a mere profession but a culture, tradition to be practiced by one and all. Whether you talk about Vedas or economic growth, agriculture has its own noteworthiness. It has its importance since Vedic age, Aryans were described as farmers. It is told in Rig Ved, "Akshairya Divyaha Krushimit Krushawaha" which means get rid of gambling, and learn the art of farming. Even in Shreemad Bhagvad Geeta lord Krishna says, "Ashwatha Sarva Vrukshanam" Krishna compared himself with the Pipal tree which gives oxygen even at night and it is best among all trees. The existence of farming and trees in our mythology and Vedas make agriculture our cultur Traditional way of farming cannot be eradicated but practicing it with scientific technology can help in production is our strong belief. The resources are limited so it is important to use both traditional as well as scientific approach smartly so that productivity of crops can be improved with the utilization of scarce resources. "Per drop, per crop" is our mission statement to conserve water and appeal to farmers and scientists to find ways and work for increasing farm productivity through optimum utilization of scarce resources. It is very rightly said that in India agriculture has its own special place as it is not practiced as mere profession but as a culture and tradition. In India, about seventy...
