About Us

Coco peat, also known as coir pith, coir fibre pith, coir dust, or simply coir, produced when coconut husks are processed for the extraction of coir fibers. Coco peat is a multipurpose growing medium which is very easy to use. Its high air filled porosity and high water holding capacity makes it the ideal medium for all plant growing applications. Coco peat is a proven natural alternative to mined Peat moss, therefore using it helps slow down peat extraction from environmentally sensitive swamps worldwide. Used as a growing medium, Coco peat outperforms most of the popular brands of Peat and Sphagnum Moss. Graan Coir usually shipped in the form of compressed bales, briquettes, slabs or discs, the end user usually expands and aerates the compressed coco peat by the addition of water. A single kilogram of coco peat will expand up to 15 liters of moist coco peat. Graan Coir has innumerable advantages in the horticultural and domestic gardening (indoor and outdoor). Some of them are in potting mix, horticulture cultivation, nursery beds for seedlings, orchids, mushroom cultivation, plantation crops, lawn and golf course construction, landscaping etc. The main advantage is that the valuable nitrogen is preserved in coco peat and moisture content is retained. This unique capacity assures that Graan Coir will hold and release nutrients to the plants over extended period without re-watering.

Graan Coir is one among the leading manufacturers and exporters of coco peat...
