About Us

Grey Parrot Publishers is an independent start-up publishing house that aims at setting off a trend in the conventional world of publishing. It is the result of an ambitious idea of a team of enthusiastic and experienced editors, designers and content developers, who perceive themselves not as yet another 'publishing company' but take pride in calling themselves as 'Passion Profilers.' This company is not a 'me too' kind of a venture, we daresay we are different! We take pride in being unconventional in our approach towards books and publishing. 'Publishing with purpose' is our motto. We pick, plan and roll out every title with this motto. We search out for those having a passion for skills... passion of doing things differently... passion of choosing a road less travelled... passion of carrying forward something from a specific point... passion of creating something unusual, unheard of. To achieve it, we go 'beyond publishing.' Our forte is the non-fiction genre, especially creative non-fiction.
