About Us

In our society, "Psychology", "Mental Health" etc. are still regarded as taboo topics. For many years, people have accepted only two types of mental segments as "Normal people" or "Abnormal People" also called as mad (mentally retarded) people. However, there is a large segment of people who can not be classified in these two extreme categories but have some amount of mental health concerns which need to be addressed. This segment mostly goes unnoticed and hardly gets any help which is required.
