About Us

Specialized Linux Training Center where training is provided by experts and actual working professionals with 6 years plus experience in the IT industry.

Beginners often face challenges that can be avoided by providing them a solid foundation of basic Linux skills. Command line training can be a time-saving investment. We've developed training materials focused on saving your time and taking you further on your Linux path. Linux server administrators often deal with trying to learn advanced techniques in a short amount of time. Our Linux courses are an excellent remedy for this situation because they provide complete lab projects and real examples.
