About Us

We have often been asked why we are called jungle Drums. When we started the agency about four years ago, we had learned from our collective experience that communicating in today's jungles- corporate or concrete is very akin to the process followed by the jungle drums of ancient Africa. Where a message beaten out on a lone drum in a remote vilage would pass from village to village until until everyone got it. Indeed, if you think about, that is how the name and fame of some of the most well known brnds in the world has spread, mouth to mouth, town to town, city to city, nation to nation.
