About Us

Kamla-Raj Enterprises (New Delhi, India) is one of the leading educational publishers for quality and scholarly publications of international reputed Journals and Books in the field of Environmental, Life and Social Sciences. To deliver this research to a wide audience, we work closely with our authors and subscribers and ensure that we provide publishing services that support their research needs. The journals are edited by Internationally Renowned Academicians. We publish over 15 journals which are indexed and have maintained their regularity. Our journals offer excellent value and are available and read around the world. Each one of the journals that we publish is highly regarded by its community and our brand is trusted to deliver the best content worldwide and on time. Our team of editors and editorial boards help in gathering research papers that reflect the needs of the academic community. Our stringent review process ensures that the papers that we publish are of the highest quality. Publishing exceptional work is just a part of what we do. We ensure that our journals are disseminated worldwide, so that researchers can access them online. The complete information about journals and the Full Text of the papers is available online (website: www.krepublishers.com). Scholars are welcome to edit an entire Special Issue/Volume of the Journals in their field of specialization as Guest Editors. A good number of Special Issues/Volumes of these...
