About Us

Kay Hardware is an audited manufacturer and exporter of Architectural & Builders Hardware and has been exporting high quality products to USA, Canada, UK & Europe for over 20 years now. The materials that it primarily deals with are Solid Bronze, Brass, Malleable & Hand-forged Iron and Stainless Steel. Over the years, we have gained extensive understanding and experience in manufacturing Builders Hardware products suiting both the North-American and European market and maintain inventories of a very wide and difficult range of products. Headquartered in Aligarh, 90 miles from National Capital Territory of Delhi, India, the business is today run with a dedicated workforce of almost 200 employees including the management and non-management staff. The company started its operations around 35 years ago with the name Kay Bee Enterprises and majorly supplied Brass Artware products such as Animals, Birds, Bells & Statues. A few years later, it then entered into the European market offering Builders hardware products in Malleable Iron and Forged Brass and has been consistent in supplying quality products to the buyers till date. In the early nineties, the company started exporting HVAC products in a variety of materials to some of the reputed companies based in North America. However the learning curve took a leap for the company when it started manufacturing and exporting Solid Bronze & Brass products to the same market in the late nineties. With over 20...
