Manufacturer of diamond jewellery.

About Us

More than 600 years ago, England had their own hallmarking and assaying system for gold ornaments. By seeing our God and Goddesses, adoring gold crowns and ornaments, our gold market could be at least 5000 years old.

Still we did not have scientific methodology to know the purity of gold in India. Perhaps, this could be because our goldsmiths were either very truthful or our consumer were ignorant of gold technology.

When lakhs of jewellers hesitate and shy away from this new process, Kunhikannan Jewellery Gold House, Kannur, Kerala, came forward to obtain India's First BIS Certification in gold.

On 1st April 2000, for the first time Hallmarking and Assaying of gold was introduced in India by the Bureau of Indian Standards (BIS) under the Ministry of Consumer Affairs, Govt. of India in co-operation with World Gold Council and it is going to be mandatory for the gold business in India soon. Thus we have become a landmark in the purity of gold.
