About Us

Why a certificate with LL-C ? The client decides during selection of certificate companies on the basis of various motives and expectations. From our point of view, we consider the following three factors most important:

The auditor's personality - in the team we place auditors who, apart from definite knowledge of the standards and certificate procedure, have over and above got experience in the area of real business dealings and are able to carefully judge the application of the elements of the standard in such a way so as to really raise the quality of production and at the same time keep the client's competitiveness in his field. Also, we apply the principle that the auditor must be experienced in the field of our client's business dealings.

Practicality and simplicity - all the applied requirements of the standard are judged in such a way so as to be useful for the firm's operation. We look for the ideal combination between simplicity of system control and ensuring the required quality. All the contingent remarks or disagreements are suggested in such a way so as not to be formal and useless and even counterproductive.

Price - while setting our prices for certificated services, we respect the fact that the client, in order that he himself maintains his competitiveness, must keep his costs at a reasonable level and under control. Therefore we try to offer fair prices.
