WOLY brand history Passion for shoe care

1861
Inspired by his business travels, Adolf Sutter sought better protection and care for heavily used footwear. He set up shop in Oberhofen in the Swiss canton of Thurgau and started manufacturing shoe polish – with success: The product impressed customers with its efficiency and received several awards for quality.

1931
An assortment of special shoe care products was launched under the brand name Woly. The line’s flagship product was WOLY emulsion cream in a glass jar. This product has been continuously refined ever since, while its basic formulation stays the same.

1932-1990
From a chip-wood box to a tube with sponge applicator – with experience and constant innovation, a wide variety of products has been created to cover all aspects of leather care: cleaning, conditioning, polishing, waterproofing and colour refreshing. Not only the formulations, but also the application techniques were developed further in this process. WOLY established itself as a trustworthy expert for leather and textile care.
