About Us

The Department of Anesthesiology at NS Hospital provides anesthetic services to all types of surgeries carried out at the hospital. During the surgical procedure/operation, the anesthesiologist is solely responsible for monitoring and optimizing the function of the patient's vital organs, mainly heart, lungs and the brain, in addition to providing anesthetic and pain-relief services. The department along with operative assistance also provides pre and post-operative pain relief for patients from all specialties in the hospital. After surgery, patients kept in the Intensive Care Unit on respirators are also attended by an anesthesiologist. The department also provides intensive care services to the medical patients admitted in ICU. The department is ably staffed by highly skilled professionals. The department is equipped with all mandatory monitors, recommended by American Society of Anesthesiologists and Indian Society of Anesthesiologists and state of the art Anaesthetic machines and ventilators. Respiratory disorders are very common in the community. Heart and Lung disorders have many common presentations and co-exist very frequently. Pulmonology department serves to manage patients suffering from various disorders of lungs like Asthma, COPD, Tuberculosis (TB), pneumonia, lung cancers, birth defects of lungs, sleep disorders, snoring etc. Tuberculosis and asthma patients are categorized in to a separate registry each, with meticulous care. The department conducts...
