About Us

Omega international institute of fire and safety was founded in 2010 to impart learning opportunities in occupational health, safety and environment for delegates across the world. We are highly appreciated by our clients for providing top quality training programs and services at the best value. Our proven strategies, learning methods, support and guidance is the key to our outstanding leadership in this field. We are focused on delivering a range of internationally recognized qualifications like NEBOSH, IOSH, OSHA, IASP, and other topical specializations in convenient learning methods which are extremely beneficial to delegates seeking employment or already employed. In addition, we conduct seminars, symposia and conferences on regular basis to discuss excellent approaches on rigorous training and consulting services. We encourage the best safety practices measured by international standards for organizations to ensure the success of safety management system. Our trained students are recruited worldwide for their abilities to meet technical and management challenges in the field of occupational health, safety and environment.
