About Us

Our uniformed and carefully trained drivers are equipped with state-of-the-art Nextel two-way mobile data units that allow them to communicate quickly and efficiently with our dispatchers and customer service personnel. Our sophisticated computer system is specifically designed with our client needs in mind, providing easy real-time on-line ordering, pricing and tracking capability with automatic response e-mail order and delivery confirmations. Orange Leaf Couriers courteous customer service representatives are able to coordinate your same-day services, whether you require a one-time pickup and delivery or repeat delivery services on a daily, weekly or monthly basis. We are just ordinary people with an extraordinary passion for what we do. We care about the success of our clients and are committed to fulfilling their needs. Over time, demand for a new type of representative courier has emerged. With the increase in fuel prices and productivity goals monitored closely by companies, this new type of all-in-one courier has developed to "take care of business". Workers in companies have more work and less time to be out of the office. Operating largely using independent contractors that have gone through a screening process and background checks have found a niche in the courier industry. Research, in transit pet care, complex paperwork filing, and a host of other services are now offered in this new category of courier service. They can also change shape, such as when several...
