About Us

We are the leading manufacturer of biomass briquettes in India. We have set up this venture by manufacturing eco-friendly and environment friendly products from agricultural wastes that would otherwise go to waste, with an aim towards becoming a complete green company! Our Green technology enables us not just produce low carbon dioxide emissions but it also ensures no significant rise or drop on global temperatures because we do not use fossil fuels at all during production process

As you can see, unlike other man made sources such as coal which causes over 100 times greater release when burnt, our pure plant based product only accounts for 2%. This means less damage done both locally within your home country yet likewise worldwide due to its lower placement impact rating.
