About Us

Serra International is proposing an innovative direction in early childhood education where children are respected as competent thinkers and communicators who are offered many opportunities to engage with a range of materials and resources to extend and challenge their thinking. The Serra experience ensures strong moral, social, emotional and physical development, transforming children from a fledgling toddler to confident, inquisitive, self-motivated learner and an enthusiastic citizen who faces the world with confidence. A suite of Eight guiding principles have been established to both guide and serve as a benchmark for delivering world class early childhood education consistently across our pre-school settings. These guiding principles are known as the Eight Big Ideas of our Philosophy are We are committed to the pedagogy of listening, Play is the central mode of learning for young children, We acknowledge children as sophisticated thinkers and communicators, We have accountability to children, parents, management and community, We create alliances with parents, Our program has intellectual and pedagogical integrity, We focus on seeing children within a socio-cultural context and Teachers as researchers
