About Us

The company Stomoma Infra Pvt. Ltd. was incorporated in 2010 with the main objects to carry on the business of manufacturing pipes. We revised our business objective in 2012 to include recycling of the waste tyres to extract the fuel. Our directors have a vision of turning the waste tyres into furnace oil substitute, thereby reducing the dependence on the depleting crude oil and solving the problem of disposal of waste tyres, rubber and specific forms of plastic (except PVC).

We have successfully started our operation in June 2012, recycling the waste tyres into Pyro Oil (fuel) with our 25 tonne production unit located at Manor, Taluka Palghar in Western Maharashtra.

As the company has ventured into new industry, it prefers to take baby steps rather than giant leaps. On this philosophy, the company has added all the required basic machinery and has started its production. With the successful commercializations of its products, the company has increased the installed capacity and added more value to its finished products over a short period of time.

The company has two 12 tonne closed batch recycling reactors. It also has installed Intermediate and Ultra refined systems for filtering and refining the Pyro Oil as per the customer requirements. The company also has added an industrial capacity carbon black briquette mixer, binder, maker and packing machine to supply to the customers. The company also has an in-house scrap wire...
