About Us

Studio snap digital was started by us (Paresh Asodariya) in early 2001. We start shooting Indian weddings in a more candid style, Real moment. We both took up wedding photography because we thought it as the best way to experience what we love the most in life and about life and that is exploring new places, meeting new people, making new friends, lots of good food, lots of laughter and conversation.

Since our inception we have done over 350 weddings. It's a great achievement for us considering the fact that we started in late 2001 and have covered weddings from almost every part of India, almost every community in India.

It's always a great honour when couples come to us and say that we are their dream wedding photographers or videographers. It's so humbling when we are told that they love our work. It feels like a great responsibility to deliver each time when people tell us Phototantra as one of India's top most, popular, famous, finest and sought after team of wedding photographers and cinematographers.

In India, they have, a saying that its not the couple but the families who get married. We would like to continue this phrase by saying, - we become narrators of their wedding story for all the times and generations to come.
