About Us

Missile Systems is a key focus area for TASL group and it aims to be the leading Indian private player complementary to the public sector. TASL has demonstrated its capability, both commercial and technical, by successfully winning major tenders for systems against established players and thereafter to meet all milestones as required by the customer (DRDO). TASL and its subsidiaries are currently participating in development of sub-systems for 3 major Indian Missile programs.

TASL is currently undertaking a limited series production & assembly of critical Mil-grade flight worthy missile components such as Rocket motor casing, Control fins & Thrust Vector control systems for an Indian Missile Program, with additional focus on Missile body components, delay electronics, wiring harness and actuators. TASL has been shortlisted to undertake production & assembly work for aircraft pods for a major global OEM.

As a major participant in a second and third Indian missile programme, TASL is involved in design & manufacture of Mission Control centres (MCC)/ Combat Management Systems (CMS) for Missile Defence & Medium Range Surface to Air Missile (MRSAM) programs of Indian Defence forces. The MCC/CMS form an essential element in today's Missile battery. A Rugged Mission control centre connects to various field sensors like advance multifunction radars, electro-optics sensors, UAVs etc.; process received information for threat...
