About Us

We are Thinking Cap, a fully integrated creative and event management agency. Simply put, we create ideas; ideas that are commercially driven, those that are brand building and deliver business performance. What makes us unique is our Integrated Thinking. Integrated Thinking is a collaborative model that amplifies ideation across the four pillars of communication: strategy, creative, innovation and media. Essentially, it is four-way thinking that creates disruptive ideas for advertising, content marketing, digital marketing and social media marketing in one agency and under one roof. We've been in the business of building brands for over ten years now, a testament to our unwavering passion for creativity that deliver winning ideas for our partners' brands.
