About Us

Good products only come from good raw materials. Our physical presence across less organized market allows us to source the products from as close to the farm gate as possible directly from the origin. To support this, we have developed network of procurement teams headed by local inhabitants who are conversant with farming practices, experienced at quality assessment and are able to effectively manage price risk. This ensures we have complete control over procurement, logistics and storage. We are a multi-product company, which enable our operations to cross source products by sharing resources thereby making each origin and business, cost competitive and locally effective. We seek to optimize our product mix based on common geographic markets, products, customers and channels shared, which help us distribute costs more effectively. Through our efficient Originating network we can offer top quality ingredients at competitive prices. Product scarcity due to crop failure from the usual originating point is being avoided by supply from different sources in other parts of the country, therefore a steady delivery of good quality of products are guaranteed . We also originate on the open markets well as ready Processed, Graded and Bagged.
