About Us

We have practiced farming for over eight years and specifically organic farming for about four years. Therefore, we have some vast experience growing and procuring high quality agricultural products straight from the farms. Vedah is founded by two social entrepreneurs who themselves practice organic and natural farming. Most of the farmers in our network are people who we personally know from volunteering on farms, trainings and workshops. This helps us monitor and procure high quality produce for our buyers. We constantly go beyond just the usual products that we offer in categories like Spices, Millets and Fruits because we work so closely with farmers. So if you have a requirement that goes beyond these categories, there is a good chance we can bring it to you! Use Vedah's Farm Procurement Service for your business and find way to reach the farms directly. This will help your business achieve great deals for the farm produce you wish to purchase and it will ensure the farmers are getting a fair pay.
